

Challenge 6: A Job Interview Outfit

Instructions: John is a recent college graduate preparing for his first interview at a corporate office. He's excited, but also a bit nervous, especially because he's on a tight budget. John needs to create a professional and polished look without spending too much. John could have an interview as soon as next week.

John hasn't spent much time shopping lately, so he's not sure how much he can get for his budget of $150. Ideally he's hoping to buy a dress shirt, dress pants, a blazer, a belt, some shoes with personality, and maybe even some dress socks. He was recently measured for dress clothes and knows his neck size is 16" and his waist is 35". He wears size 8 shoes.

John has many people rooting for him in this season of life. His roommate is the same size as him and said John could happily borrow his "interview" outfit or pieces of it as needed. John's parents have approved him to spend $150 for the outfit using their shared credit card, in John Sr.'s name. He is shopping at Wardrobe Hive because he received a 10% off coupon code at graduation: NEWGRAD.
